Teacher Biography

SARAH FAZIL

Sarah Fazil has a Bachelor's Degree in Child Development. She has four years of experience teaching preschool working with varying levels of children's abilities. When she is not teaching, she enjoys spending time with her own children, the outdoors, and staying active.

Early development years are such an important time for children's growth. She recognizes the great importance of early childhood education and how experiences can greatly impact a child's success in learning. Sarah provides exploration and experiences for a hands-on learning environment that promotes creativity, individuality and discovery. A place where children can learn and grow as a whole through building positive relationship with each other. A successful learning experience is a team effort with parents/guardians so that children will develop their lifelong love of learning.
